

Evacuees

Early on in the war evacuees began to arrive from London. I got to know many of them as they had their school lessons in the Technical School next to the Library. Alo I used to go to the Art School on the top floor of the building. The Librarian had an arrangement with the Principal of the Art School that if he gave me free lessons he could have extended loan on art books!

The schools were Southwark Central and St Calves and St Saviours. Some teachers came with them. The girls had their lessons at Highweek Girls School.
